

VMware and Pure Integration Training Videos

A few months back I was reviewing our VMware training for our field, I realized it wasn't really doing what our field needed. It was too nuts and bolts technical-which isn't really what was needed by the masses. There was more of a desire to understand the value of the VMware product, the value of the integration, and the value that we as Pure can bring to it.

There are so many options out there, the "why" sometimes can be the most important question. So, I created a series of "fireside chat" videos where I and some other SME talks about the solution or product, do a quick demo and chat some more. Not super technical, but not marketing fluff either.

We posted all of these VMWare and Pure Integration Training videos on YouTube.
